

FSMA Proposed Rules Overview

Learn More about the Proposed Produce & Preventive Control for Human Food Rules

The Food Safety Modernization Act will significantly impact growers, packers and processors in the coming years. Members of the food industry have the opportunity to submit comments to FDA on the proposed rules that will be used to regulate the food industry in the coming years. There is a need to be familiar with the proposed rules in order to submit relevant comments to FDA by the May 16, 2013 deadline. A multi-state team involving universities and regulatory agencies in partnership with FDA is offering five opportunities to review the proposed rules. FDA will be presenting information and offering input throughout the workshop.

Food growers, packers, and processors are encouraged to take this opportunity to learn more about the proposed rules. Registration is $20 and the registration deadlines are four days prior to the start of each course. Seating is limited and registration is required. For each workshop, registration opens at 7:45am. The program will begin at 8:00am through 5:00pm.
